MR. RUGH TELLS EXPERIENCES OF ASILOMAR MEET

AMERICAN STUDENTS MUST WAKE UP, DELEGATES CONCLUDE

That there is a crying need today for University men and women in America to wake up to the problems of human society and that a right interpretation of scientific facts and knowledge is indispensable for the prevention of future wars and strifes, are the two main thoughts which were brought out at the Asilomar Student Conference, which some 350 men from different colleges and universities attended, according to Mr. Dwight Rugh, who with Merlyn Forbes '24, represented the University of Hawaii at the Conference.

"The American students are not thinking; they are, at least a large number of them, simply dilly-dallying through four or five of the most significant years of their lives—that is what the delegates at the Conference felt was the trouble with the majority of the men and women today who are in our colleges and universities," said Mr. Rugh. "The students of America must show more industry and application in their study and preparation for future leadership in the nation."

"One of the most enjoyable features of the conference," remarked Rugh, "was the touch with so many foreign students, fifteen races in all, being represented. This resulted in an unusually fine spirit of inter-racial brotherhood. Sincerity and frankness were the foundation of this contact between the races."

"Students Must Wake Up."

The main thoughts of the conference, according to Mr. Rugh, were two in number.

"First, the students of America are not thinking. Too many are dilly-dallying through four or five of the most significant years of their lives. There is a crying need for university men and women to wake up to the problems of human society and conscientiously think out how to solve them."

"The American students are preparing to lead the United States, and they must have a first-hand knowledge of existing conditions. Our universities and educational institutions give us scientific facts and developments in relation to these problems, emphasizing the spirit of service and cooperation, without providing a dynamic motive for realizing these ideals."

Christian Interpretation Needed

"This led to discussions on how to interpret Christian principles so that they would provide students with personal power and background to properly use the scientific knowledge gained. That means that the students of America must show more industry and application in their study and preparation for the places they are to fill in their communities."

"It was felt," said Mr. Rugh, "by men who have spent the year in visiting universities and colleges all over the United States that students are not awake to the needs and problems of our nation and of the world. So the challenge that was thrown out to the delegates of the conference was to return to their campuses with a determination to study more thoroughly, through first hand experience, if possible, the facts about social, industrial and political conditions, and how the

AN APPEAL TO THE STUDENTS OF THE UNIVERSITY

We are now in the midst of the campaign for raising $3000 to construct three new tennis courts at the University.

This sum must be raised among the students of the University.

Two years ago we undertook an enterprise—the building of the swimming tank—which called for a greater effort and sacrifice on our part, and we carried it to a successful finish. At that time, $5000 was raised on the campus.

We must not fall down on this new enterprise; it, too, must be carried to a successful finish.

The courts are needed. We must get the money with which to put in those courts. Here is your chance to show your interest and love for the Alma Mater which is giving you all the opportunities and privileges of higher learning free of charge.

It is the privilege and duty of every student in the University to aid any cause which means the upbuilding of a greater and better University. "Kokua" the project.

Do it now.

Green and White Men Train for Casaba Tilt; Year's Prospect Good

Otto Klum, grid mentor as well as basketball coach, is daily training the University of Hawaii basketball team, runners-up of the Honolulu Senior A.A.U. Basketball League last year, at the Knights of Columbus gymnasium, preparing for the 1923 season.

The Green and White team this year is somewhat crippled by the loss of most of the regular players of last year's squad. Only three "letter" men, namely, Dwight Rugh, Carl Farden and Dyfrig Forbes, are playing this season. "Rusty" Blaisdell will not be on the team this year. The majority of the men who are practicing are new and most of them are freshmen. However, prospects for the coming year are very bright.

So far the Green and White men have not chosen their captain. But it is likely that the head of the University squad will be elected shortly. Among the fifteen players who are turning out daily for practice since last Wednesday are Farden, Rugh, Dyfrig Forbes, Allister Forbes, Duke Thompson, Ernest Kai, Wicke, Suga, Tsugawa, James Cruickshank, James Landers, Wedemeyer, Teddy Hair, Willie Wise, and Downer.

The League has been organized. "Bill" Meinicke, University of Hawaii graduate, was elected president for the coming season. The seven other teams, besides the University of Hawaii, include Columbus Club, National Guard of Hawaii, All-around Chinese, Shafter Post, Department Headquarters, Schofield Officers and Palama.

The opening game of the League will probably be played Saturday evening, January 27. All the games under the auspices of the League will be played at the National Guard Armory. The season's schedule has not been definitely drawn.

MAINLANDERS HEAR OF HAWAII VARSITY

People on the mainland are beginning to sit up and take notice of Hawaii. This from a letter from a student in the University of Washington, "I noticed an item the other day, in the Seattle Times, praising very highly your varsity football team. It commented that your university was coming right up in the athletic field."

Pomona Men Express Thanks for Treatment Given by U.H. People

Coach Eugene Nixon of Pomona College, writing to the "one real girl" of this University, relates that he had "a heavenly time in Honolulu." After expressing his thanks, he concludes the paragraph with this beautiful phrase, "Now, there—don't you think I've said enough to get me in bad in the divorce and alimony court?"

Coach Nixon is a well-known short story writer; he is the author of many peppy stories, so it isn't a surprise to find such lines in his letters. He writes: "I don't believe there is a man in the party who did not regret leaving Honolulu. Even an old married man like me, who is crazy to get back to the family, feels a pang at leaving such fine, generous, lovable friends as we made in your glorious land of romance and beauty; and every one of us plans to come back some day. We know now why Ulysses chained himself to the mast as he passed the island of the Sirens."

The following is an extract from the letter of Orlyn N. Robertson, president of the Pomona student body:

"I have never made so many friends in so short a time. Surely in your many sacrifices and much hard work (refers to the chairman of the entertainment committee) you often wondered if it really was appreciated. Aloha oe to you and we'll never forget the isle in the Mid-Pacific where live the real hospitable people of the earth. It has been a real education. Anyway life is just give and take. I'm afraid Ours has been mostly 'take.'"

CHANGES IN REGISTERING

In addition to making out the large registration card, students will please fill out a small "subject card" to correspond to each subject registered on the large registration card. These small "subject cards" may be obtained from the Deans of the two colleges. After paying fees, please leave all cards at the main office, with Miss MacNeil.

$3000 DRIVE IS LAUNCHED AT ASSEMBLY

"GET BUSY, DIG DOWN AND DIG UP," PROF. CRAWFORD
TO STUDENTS

The campaign to raise $3000 for the construction of three new courts on the campus was formally launched at Friday morning's assembly, with "Bill" Wilson '23, who is at the head of the drive, explaining the need for the courts and emphasizing the fact that the money must be raised from among the students of the University.

"At the time when we were carrying on the swimming tank campaign, with $20,000 to raise, the Pomona men were also carrying on a similar drive. Raising $1500 out of the required $40,000, they thought they were doing some mighty fine piece of work. I wrote to them with no little pride that our student body numbering only 150, against their 750, made $5000," said Prof. D. L. Crawford, who was asked to say a few words in regard to the new enterprise.

"We need the courts. The only thing now for us to do is to get the money. Get busy, dig down and dig up."

Four teams have been organized for soliciting funds to build the new tennis courts. The captains and their respective assistants are: May Gay (captain), Dora Broadbent, Dorris Mossman, Kathrine McLane, Katharine Adams, Ruth Yapp; Laurance Lit Lau (captain), John Matsumura, Earnest Kai, Lyman, Yamashiro, Yanagihara; Allister Forbes (captain), Clifford McGrew, Dwight Rugh, Dyfrig Forbes, Merlyn Forbes; William Wilson (captain), Addison Kinney, Herbert Keppeler, Richard Tong, Yuk Jay.

All students are asked to contribute toward the fund, and those whom the solicitors have not yet reached may turn in their pledges to any of the persons on the teams.

The students of the University feel that their present tennis court is too inadequate to care for their needs. For the past years there has been an increasing number of students who took great interest in tennis; but owing to lack of proper facilities all possible tournaments have been held back. So they have undertaken a drive to raise $3000 for the construction of three new tennis courts on the campus. The drive which started last Friday will last two weeks.

Up to noon $400 have been pledged by the students and faculty. According to Bill Wilson, campaign manager, the Seniors are expected to come through with a hundred per cent strong. The Faculty, Juniors, Sophomores and Freshmen are coming out in fine shape.

If every student can pledge $10 the drive will not be a difficult task. If the students cannot come through, then help will be asked from friends in the city. The pledged money can be turned in as late as May 1, but preferably as soon as possible.

Merlyn Forbes, who with Dwight Rugh has recently returned from the Asilomar Student Conference, gave his impressions of his trip, stating that the conference was a great education to all those who attended it.

Dr. Adams is building a new home on Liloa Rise and hopes to move into it by April 1, 1923.

Prof. Hunt Suggests Method of Cooperation

"Cooperation between the Literary society and the Dramatic club is the real solution to the problem of fusing into one the different racial elements in the University of Hawaii," said Prof. Hunt, in speaking of the method suggested by him two weeks ago by which the Dramatic club could help in unifying the University.

There are several solutions to the problem. A few plays could probably be found which would include both Orientals and Occidentals. Plays whose characters are mythical or unreal, or plays which lack the elements of time or place might be presented. But the people here probably would not care particularly for such plays.

The method, however, which Prof. Hunt thinks would succeed the best is that of cooperation between the Literary society and the Dramatic club.

"The Literary society should, as a first step, encourage the translation by Orientals of short Oriental plays. An Occidental play and an Oriental play, both short, could then be presented the same evening."

The presentation of original plays would, however, be the ultimate goal of this plan. Through translation, an interest in play-writing would be aroused. The Dramatic club could tell the Literary society what kind of plays were wanted and could go over the various productions submitted, selecting what was best suited to its needs.

"Something valuable and distinctive should be the result of this plan. There would be more interest in the work and more incentive than at present to write a good play, if there were a chance of having it presented."

"A new field would be opened, and this town is usually willing to boost anything of its own."

Further results would, according to Prof. Hunt, probably be the development of a play-writing club within the Literary society, and the establishment of a literary magazine.

"It is up to the Literary society and the Dramatic club to get together!" said Prof. Hunt, in conclusion.

Light Voting Shown At Council Election

Seventy-two persons out of more than 300 eligible, voted in the recent Student Council election. Those voting on the rules for nominating and electing the members of the Council and so forth were 68 for and 2 against. Those voting on the enlargement of the powers of the Council, making it responsible for conducting an educational campaign each and making it an advisory body to the University authorities were 63 for and 9 against.

"The voting is exceedingly light," said President Dean, "but all who wanted to kick had the chance to do so. We can accept the new regulations."

Here's a Tale of Woe Told in Woeful Style

(By Mizpah.)

The professor looked up. Books were closed. There followed an ominous silence.

"This morning you will please, write a review of the last English lecture—about 300 words," he commanded in a low, stern voice.

The little freshmen trembled with fear and gasped for breath. Life was so cruel, so cruel! Terror-stricken and haunted by thoughts of the inevitable, they sat there, paralyzed. At last, one of the bravest took up his pen and sadly scribbled a title. Little beads of sweat burst out upon his brow. He began to realize after all that the burden of learning was not nearly so dreadful as the lack of it. In desperation he struggled to collect his scattered wits. This is what he wrote:

WHAT I HEARD IN ENGLISH CLASS.

"This morning we will take into consideration the necessity of selecting a controlling purpose before commencing to write. *Let us divide the subject into—"

"Boy! Talk about skidding! Well, just ask 'Reverend' Ault for details—he knows."

"Are the facts alone sufficient, or do they call for an interpretation? Then, too, one must—"

"Eh! Get me that vanity case, will you? I've always wanted to know what on earth girls put in them anyway."

"Gee! what a find. Here you take the powder puff—"

"Hold the mirror straight, can't you? How can I see if it's on right or not? Use disgression!"

"Wonder what's in this funny little box. Ah! The wild, wild woman!"

"T's he well informed? Does he have prejudices to which an appeal must be made? A clear illustration of this—"

"Wake up, sleepy-head! Where were you last night?"

"At 'The Young Rajah.' Rodolph is perfect."

"You can see that clearly, can you not? Let us proceed further. Take, for instance—"

"Stop shaking my seat. What time is it? I'm starved—can't last another ten minutes."

"—so you see this situation can be remedied only by making a demand. You must make a demand! Class dismissed."

The Freshman sighed. Then he wrote:

"Please note that I am merely the victim of the circumstances sitting around me."

Lilburn Merriel, Junior, Arts and Sciences, major in psychology and sociology, will be one of the new students.

Dr. and Mrs. Percival Symonds have moved from the Makiki Hotel to the McDonald Hotel.

Public Speaking Class Has Unique Examination

A unique examination was conducted in public speaking, when members of the class took their examination by giving speeches last Wednesday. Afterward the members of the class were requested to write the name of the one they thought gave the best speech, the next best, and so on. They did not attempt to evaluate their own speech, so as there are eleven in the class, each member wrote ten names.

Doctor Andrews, the instructor, worked out a system of points, counting the first place 10 and the last one. According to this system the highest number of points one might win would be 110 and the lowest would be 11. He states that the highest number given one person is 83 and the lowest 32.

The person who received 83 points was placed first by two, five gave second place, one gave third place, two gave sixth. The next highest number of points was 80, which was made up of three first choices, two second choices, two third choices, one fourth choice, one fifth choice and one seventh.

The third highest was 77, made up of four first choices, three second, one fourth, one ninth and one tenth. Fourth place had 68 points, made up of one second place, two third, three fourth, two fifth, two sixth.

Fifth place had 56 points, while the sixth place had 50 points, and the seventh 46.

The eighth, ninth, tenth, eleventh places had 44, 35, 33, and 32 points respectively.

NEW COURSES

In the College of Applied Science the only new course is Botany 4, a course in Bacteriology. Col. Adna Clarke will give a course in Military History, designated History 17. In the College of Arts and Sciences Prof. T. B. Hunt will give a course in Journalism. Mr. E. H. Van Winkle will give a course in Corporation Finance which will come at the same time as ing.

The Exams! Days of Fears and Flunks

(By Ephigenia Euripides.)

Woe, woe to the University and the students thereof! Evil days, like a pall, have settled upon us,—days of labor, anguish, hopes, fears and flunks.

Many are the promising young lives which Fate hath ordained shall be blasted and wrecked in this time of trouble. How many of our dear brothers and sisters will be missing when those of us who survive gather safe on the other side of this treacherous river, exam. week?

Arise then, ye students! En avant! Say in thine heart, thou fearful one, that no prof will have the ghoulis pleasure of flunking thee.

Although it may be true that day by day in every way thou art getting cuckoo and cuckooer, nevertheless, establish thine heart by the hourly repetition of the more soul-satisfying phrase, "Day by day in every way, I'm getting wiser and wiser."

Harken now, young freshman, to words of wisdom which will harm neither a sophomore, a junior, nor a senior, but which are directed especially to thee who art young and innocent of the ways of this great institution.

Thy virtuous profs. forget that thou hast not been studying throughout the semester, therefore they will ask questions in their exams which will imply the possession by thee of a certain quantity of knowledge. The remedy? Cram, cram, cram till thou art on the verge of taking a trip to a cool, deep, and silent lake, there to end forever thy young and promising life. The way may be hard, but persist and thy reward will be priceless. Thou shalt be permitted to remain thy allotted time within the gates of the University.

Doctor Adams' Insurance course has during the first semester. Education 1 will be followed by laboratory work in Psychology, Logic by Psychology 1 and American Literature by English 8, which is a course in short story writing.

principles of Christian service and co-operation can be molded into the life of the nation."

"Second, we have collected and are still collecting facts in all fields of human endeavor, but we haven't been teaching the students how to properly interpret these facts. It was felt that a spiritual interpretation of discovered scientific facts is necessary to prevent our own and other nations from falling into more wars and constant strife and dissatisfaction."

Boost Hawaii Varsity

"The trip," continued Mr. Rugh, "was in all ways more profitable and inspiring than we had ever hoped for. Opportunity was given to make the University of Hawaii known to practically every student there."

"Needless to say, the delegates from this University won the long distance prize, and created quite a curiosity on the part of the other delegates."

Expenses for the trip can be kept surprisingly low, according to Mr. Rugh. By travelling in a group, it is estimated that students could attend the Asilomar conference next year for approximately $150 each.

"It is hoped," Rugh said, "that students will become interested in this vacation trip and will realize that it is one of the best opportunities for getting in touch with the students of the western part of the United States. Many delegates expressed the opinion that the trip to them was worth more than a semester or a year at university."

Both of the delegates from this university, Dwight Rugh and Merlyn Forbes, '23, are willing to answer any questions either about the Asilomar conference which has just closed, or about the coming 1923 conference.

Prof. (to forgetful student): What's your head for, anyway?

Student: To keep my necktie from slipping off.

Lawson: "Kisses are the cream of life."

She: "Pass the cream."

Soph.: "I spent nine hours over my physics last night."

Frosh.: "You did!"

Soph.: "Yeh; it was under my bed."

Frosh.: "I thought you took Math 3 last year?"

Soph.: "Yeh, but the old prof. endorsed me."

Prof. (giving assignment in text): "Now, I want all you pupils to study 'Tonight.'"

Class (in confusion): "Tonight?"

Prof.: "Any time as long as you study 'Tonight.'"

Recent Election

Discreditably does the fact that only 72 ballots were cast in last Wednesday's election reflect upon the students of the University. Since the election was open to all students and to all members of the faculty, the number of ballots cast should have been far above 300.

Several circumstances may explain this light voting. Four attempts were made to hold the election so that probably many were under the impression they had voted and did not need to do so again. The storm and the coming examinations may have had their influence.

Perhaps one of the students was right in saying, "I think everybody thought it was a matter of course that the rules and recommendations of the Student Council would be accepted. Those to whom I spoke were in favor of them, but said that there was no need of their voting because they would be adopted anyway."

A brief address by Gov. Wallace R. Farrington would be quite fitting, owing to the fact he has been so instrumental in creating and up-building the University.

After explanations are given and the election is interpreted, we are still confronted by that light voting, to the best of our knowledge, the lightest ever taking place in the University. In view of the fact that the Student Council is a body of vital concern to us, it is a solemn duty to expression our opinion when such expression is asked.

Frear House

With characteristic keenness and enthusiasm Gwenfread Allen, in Public Speaking the other day, aptly advocated that the women's dormitory be named Frear house in honor of Mrs. M. D. Frear, the first woman to serve on the Board of Regents of the University of Hawaii. The best we can do here is briefly to present Miss Allen's arguments:

Naming the buildings on the campus is one way of perpetuating the memory of those who have been intimately associated with the development of the institution. It enables us to show these persons that their interest in the University is fully appreciated. Merely to say "the women's dormitory" is most insipid. To call the building "Frear house" will make it stand out more vividly in our memories.

As far as we know, the men's dormitory is not named. We propose that it be named Farrington house in honor of Wallace R. Farrington, the man whose foresight and practical dreaming has done so much to bring the University of Hawaii into being.

For a few days longer we must grin and bear one of the misfortunes that befall students (examinations). Soon, however, we shall be sailing in the smooth water of the new semester. When this comes to pass it would be entirely fitting for a committee of students to begin the arrangements for naming these buildings.

You Are Invited

Monday and Tuesday evening have been set aside by the Dramatic club for the reading of two plays. Everybody, without reference to being a member of the club, is invited to be present.

The purpose is to select for the spring production a play that will please the students and to give to all who are thinking of trying out, an opportunity to familiarize themselves with the play chosen. In the try outs which will follow shortly, the strictest impartiality toward all will be observed.

It is well to remember that those who do not avail themselves of this invitation have no right to say the Dramatic club is being run by a clique.

Corner Stone Day

Since most colleges and universities have Charter Day, or something similar, we might well act upon the suggestion of a junior made in the Open Forum last week, by commemorating the laying of the corner stone of Hawaii hall.

As nearly as we can learn, Jan. 20 was the anniversary of this event. A few minutes might be set aside at the next assembly hour for mentioning the laying of the corner stone and considering how this could be commemorated more fully in the future.

The Open Forum

To the Editor.

I have never attended other universities except the one I'm attending now, but I have heard much about others through their graduates. One of the mainland graduates once told me that they have, among their many holidays, a "Labor Day," when every class does something towards the improvement of the school campus, such as planting trees, repairing roads, etc., etc.

We may not be able to do the same just now, but we could at least start something and lay a foundation for the coming students. Some one suggested that we may put a big "H" on the Manoa Hill that all incoming and outgoing steamer passengers may see it. I, personally, think that's a grand idea. The hill will serve the green background and have the "H" painted white—Green and White. We, boys, could put our old clothes on and do the rough job of clearing the space on the hill, and the girls could cook lunch for us. We will not only enjoy the work but we could advertise our Alma Mater too.

How about it, brothers and sisters? Are you all game? Then let's go! Somebody's got to start something, and I suggest that the Juniors take the lead, and make it an annual affair. Make your opinions known through this column. JAY UHN CHO '24. Jan. 18, 1923.

Announces Contest for Design of Name Cut

Ka Leo o Hawaii announces a contest, open to all its subscribers, for the best design for a cut bearing the newspaper's name. The local high schools have cuts for the names of their newspapers, which may show what is wanted.

Drawings must be for a straight cut to go across the top of the front page. They must have a ratio of height to length of not less than one to nine and not more than two to nine. These designs should be drawn as large as possible.

Preliminary designs may be drawn in pencil, and must be submitted to the editor not later than noon Feb. 17. A committee to be appointed later will choose the best ten, which will then be drawn in ink and submitted to the editor by noon Feb. 28. The same committee will choose the three best, which will be submitted to the subscribers for a vote. The one that receives the highest number of votes will be adopted, the designer of which receives $5 as prize.

The points desired are artistic appeal, originality and fitness. Design the name in the way you think it looks best. The design may include a picture of one of the buildings or something symbolizing the University or whatever you wish to put in.
